The Home Paper in Winter.

The flome Paper in Winter.

[The following excerpt from John Greenleaf Whittier's "Snow-bound," written in 1866, gives spicture of farm life in those days, which has not been entirely outgrown.]

At last the floundering carrier bore The village paper to our door.
Lot broadening outward as we read To warmer zones th' horizon spread, In panoramic length unrolled We saw the marvels that it told.

Welcome to us its week-old news, Its corner for the rustic Muse, Its monthly gauge of snow and rain, Its record minaling in a breath The wedding bell and dirge of death; Jest, anecdote, and love-'orn tale; The latest culprit sent to jall; Its hue and cry of stolen, lost, Its wendue sale and goods at cost, And traffic calling loud for gain.

We felt the stir of hall and street, The pulse of life that round us beat; The chill embargo of the snow Was metted in the genial glow; Wide swung again our ice-locked door, And all the world was ours once more!

Maine Farming Conditions. One cannot rightly be considered a alarmist who views with alarm the present condition of agriculture in the State f Maine," said Miss Nettie Burleigh, Vassalboro livestock breeder, in her recent talk before the Portland Farmers'

"A great deal of literature from sources outside the state is coming into Maine to-day telling us that the farmer is better off than he has been for some time and that things are coming along satisfactorily, but we who live here know that this is not quite true. Some of this liferature says that the farmer has his automobile to-day, but the automobile is as necessary to the farmer now as the horse was twenty years ago; the horse is too slow to get his produce to market and the state roads are no longer safe for horse transportation.

"We can raise as large yields of wheat, corn and oats as they can in any section of the country, yet our farmers are selling their stock and moving off the farms or cutting down their stock and keeping only what they need to supply their own wants. This is a condition that we certainly do not want and one that is not good for the agriculture of the State of "The causes are scarcify of labor, high wages and poor markets," declared Miss Burleigh, "and when it comes down to cold facts, the farmer knows what he is talking about when he says that he isn't getting a decent living.

"We want good roads and good schools and improvement in many directions, but more than anything else we want to see our farmers successful so that the boys and girls-our priceless heritage-will stay on the farms. Homemakers' Column

Out of the Casserole. The question that confronts every good housekeeper is, how can the preparation of food be made easier? The casserole will do this to a large extent, and not only will its use lighten our bur-dens in the kifehen, but also it will We can put our casserole possibilities simplify service in the dining-room. in two groups, as we do our sauted dishes. On the one hand we have an nncooked food to deal with, and on the other a food that has been previously cooked. Tender meat is not essential for casserole cooking, and any meat too ough to roast can be rendered tender and delectable with the long, slow cook ing in the cass-role. An inexpensive out, but one that is rich in flavor and juicy, from the neck or shank, is good for this purpose. This can be made into a very satisfactory main dinner dish. A few suggestions in the cooking of meats in the casserole may be helpful Cut the meat into pieces and sear then on top of the stove. Have the vegetables to be used barboiled, the potatoes cut in cubes, the carrots in long strips, and the onions in slices. First saute the barboiled vegetables in a little fat for bout five minutes, then put in the cas erole and pour over all enough stock or oiling water to half-cover the ingre lients. Season and cook till the meat s tender. Be generous with your seasoning in casserole cooking. A dash of tomato catchup gives a little life to your meat dieb, or a few drops of Worcesterhire sauce will enhance the flavor. Vegetables of pronounced flavor are better suited to the heavier meats With beef and pork, onions, peppers carrots and turnips combine nicely while peas, corn, and string-beans make a better combination with chicken and For those housewives who do not have maids, and in entertaining want the difficult part of meal preparation out of the way before company-comes, the fol-lowing suggestions may be helpful: Escalloped Sweetbreads. Cut two pairs of sweetbreads in pieces, after they have been soaked in cold water for fifeen minutes and allowed to stand in boiling water for ten minutes. Wash, geel, and out in quarters one cupful o mashrooms. Saute them with the sweetbreads in two tablespoonfuls of butter or margarin, add two tablespoon fuls of flour, one half teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika, and cook one minute longer. Then add two and three-fourths cupfuls of top milk, or half milk and half cream, and cook several minutes. Pour into a casserole dish and sprinkle the top with one-half cupful of dried bread-crumbs and two tablespoonfuls of butter i small bits. Brown in a 500° F. oven for twelve minutes. For Lobster and Mushrooms en Cas serole, wash, peel, and saute one pound of mushrooms, which have been cut i pieces, in four tablespoonfuls of butter. Add three tablespoonfuls of flour, one easpoonful of salt, and one-eighth teapoonful of paprika. Cook about five ninutes. Then add gradually one and ne-half cupfuls of milk and one-half cupful of buillon stock or water. Cool three minutes. Then add two cupfuls of canned or fresh lobster meat, cut in pieces, and one-half cupful of cream. Beat two egg-yolks well and add. Pour into a buttered casserole dish, cover the top with one-third cupful of dried bread-

Often left-overs can be made as delectsmall green pepper, chopped fine, in two tablespoonfuls of butter or margarin. Add to two cupfuls of cooked and flaked fish. Mix in lightly two cupfuls of steamed rice, two cupfuls of strained, steamed rice, two cupius of strained, cooked tomatoes, one teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper. Put in a greased casserole, and bake at 500° F. for twelve minutes.

For Bread and Cheese en Casserole, spread three medium slices of bread, having the crusts removed, with one tablespoonful of butter. Put in a but tered casserole and add one cupful of grated cheese. Add three eggs well grated cheese. Add three eggs well beaten, and one-fourth teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce to two and one-half cupfuls of milk. Add this to the bread and cheese. Allow the mixture to stand half an hour, then bake for twenty minutes at 375° F., having the casserole covered but for the last five minutes. For Rice and Meat en Casserole, add two teaspoonfuls of minced onion, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth half teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper to two cupfuls of cooked meat chopped fine. Then add one egg well beaten and three-fourths cupful of stock or hot water. Put a layer of one cupful of cooked rice in the oottom of a buttered casserole, and then a layer of the meat mixture. Cover the top with two tablespoonfuls of soft bread-crumbs and one tablespoonful of ing, snorting mustang. Miss Glover was one of the many cow girls who particibutter in bits. Bake at 350° F. for pated in the recent rodeo at Hollywood, arranged in honor of William G. Cook until blended, and then add gradually one and one-half cupfuls of strained, cooked tomatoes. Cook until the mixture thickens: then serve.

tomatoes. Cook until the mixture thickens; then serve.

For a delectable supper dish, drain one cupful of canned corn, and chop it fine. Add to this two egg-yolks well beaten. Saute one-half a green pepper, minced fine, and one tablespoonful of minced coion, in two tablespoonfuls of butter, and add to the above mixture with one teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika. Fold one cupful of spoonful of sait and one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika. Fold one cupful of steamed rice into the corn mixture very lightly, with a fork. Turn into a buttered casserole, sprinkling one fourth cupful of grated cheese on the mixture as a center layer, and one-fourth cupful of grated cheese on top. Bake at 500° F. for twelve minutes.

Children's Coats-I wonder how many mothers know that children's chinchilla coats can be cleaned at home. I first found a way when my brother took my small sen to a football game and gave him a stick of candy. The front of the coat looked as if it could never be cleaned. However, I put the coat on the ironing board, and using soap flakes, went over it with a small scrubbing brush Nort pains clear warm. brush. Next, using clear warm water and a cloth, I went over it again. Final-ly, I rubbed it dry with another cloth. Since then that coat has had many scrubbings, and each time come out like new. Even after the nap had worn off in places, it fluffed up what remained and mproved the appearance.
